DECLARATION ON “THE QUESTION OF THE MALVINAS ISLANDS”

(Adopted at the first plenary session, held on June 27, 2019)

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

CONSIDERING its repeated statements that the question of the Malvinas Islands is a matter of enduring hemispheric concern;

RECALLING its resolution AG/RES. 928 (XVIII-O/88), adopted by consensus on November 19, 1988, in which it requested the Governments of the Argentine Republic and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to resume negotiations in order to find, as soon as possible, a peaceful solution to the sovereignty dispute;

BEARING IN MIND that, in its resolution AG/RES. 1049 (XX-O/90), it expressed satisfaction over the resumption of diplomatic relations between the two countries;

RECOGNIZING that the accreditation of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, under resolution CP/RES. 655 (1041/95), as a permanent observer to the Organization of American States (OAS) reflects principles and values shared by that country and OAS member states, which facilitate greater mutual understanding;

NOTING with satisfaction that the Governments of the Argentine Republic and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland maintain important political, cultural, and trade ties, share common values, and are also engaged in close cooperation both bilaterally and in international forums;

BEARING IN MIND that, despite those ties and shared values, it has not yet been possible to resume the negotiations between the two countries with a view to solving the sovereignty dispute over the Malvinas Islands, South Georgia and the South Sandwich Islands and the surrounding maritime areas in the framework of United Nations General Assembly resolutions 2065 (XX), 3160

HAVING HEARD the presentation by the head of the delegation of the Argentine Republic, WELCOMES the reaffirmation of the will of the Argentine Government to continue exploring all possible avenues towards a peaceful settlement of the dispute and its constructive approach towards the inhabitants of the Malvinas Islands.

REAFFIRMS the need for the Governments of the Argentine Republic and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to begin, as soon as possible, negotiations on the sovereignty dispute, in order to find a peaceful solution to this protracted controversy.

“The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by this Charter, none of whose provisions authorizes it to intervene in matters that are within the internal jurisdiction of the Member States.”

It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

5. … on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any other body of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognise any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition of resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

6. … Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.
Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

RECOGNIZING that the work of the organs of the inter-American system charged with promoting and protecting human rights furthers the strengthening of democratic systems, the rule of law, and the effective enjoyment of human rights in the Americas;

BEARING IN MIND that the American states are committed to the ongoing strengthening of an inter-American system for the protection of human rights;

HIGHLIGHTING the contributions made by the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights and the Inter-American Court of Human Rights to the promotion and protection of human rights in the Hemisphere and to strengthening and improving democratic systems in the Hemisphere;

TAKING NOTE that, as stated in the Declaration of Santiago de Chile, adopted to commemorate 50 years of the IACHR’s work, the experience of decades of working to promote and protect human rights through petitions, individual cases, general situations, and thematic reports demonstrates the importance of strengthening the inter-American system’s organs and of generating a true culture of human rights in the Hemisphere’s societies; and

DECLARES:

1. 3. To acknowledge the contributions of the IACHR and the Inter-American Court of Human Rights to the promotion and protection of human rights and to strengthening and improving democratic systems in the Hemisphere.

4. To reaffirm the importance of the American Convention on Human Rights (Pact of San José, Costa Rica) as a source of international obligations for states parties and one of the main legal instruments for the promotion and protection of human rights.

6. To reiterate its respect for the independence of the organs of the inter-American human rights system and the importance of their interactions with other regional human rights protection and promotion mechanisms and with those of the universal system.
7. To recognize that ratification of the American Convention on Human Rights is a step toward the full protection of human rights in the Hemisphere, which must be supplemented with actions by state institutions, human rights education, and civil society participation.

8. To acknowledge that the IACHR’s strategic planning encourages the effectiveness of the inter-American human rights system, as a pillar and shared commitment of the Americas.

9. To extend its recognition to the states of the Hemisphere for holding events to commemorate those anniversaries in 2019.

That thousands of innocent lives have been lost in terrorist acts committed in the Hemisphere,

DECLARES its:

1. Condemnation of terrorism in all its forms and manifestations, committed by whomever, wherever, and for whatever purposes, as it constitutes one of the most serious threats to international peace and security.

2. Reaffirmation of member states’ steadfast commitment to deny refuge and/or shelter to those who finance, plan, or commit terrorist acts and to those who provide them with support, in accordance with their obligations under international law and relevant resolutions of the United Nations Security Council.

3. Condemnation of those who willfully provide assistance, support, or protection to the perpetrators, organizers, and sponsors of terrorist acts, as well as those who promote their messages;

4. Intention to continue strengthening cooperation and the exchange of information among states to prevent, investigate, counter, and punish terrorist acts.

5. Reiteration of member states’ commitment to adopt measures that prevent terrorist acts and, under law, prosecute individuals who are involved in such acts.

6. Assertion that individuals and organizations that commit terrorist acts are responsible for endangering people’s lives and physical well-being and harming the enjoyment of human rights and fundamental freedoms.

7. Reaffirmation of the importance of international and multilateral forums continuing to promote the four pillars of the United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy, underscoring the need to ensure respect for human rights and the rule of law and to work to address social and economic conditions conducive to the spread of terrorism.

8. Reaffirmation of the importance of the Inter-American Committee against Terrorism, created by the member states of the Organization of American States in 1999, as the primary hemispheric forum for preventing and combating terrorism.
9. Proclamation of June 3, the date on which the Inter-American Convention against Terrorism was signed, as Inter-American Day against Terrorism and to invite all member states of the OAS to commemorate this day each year, as appropriate, including with educational and public awareness activities.

2. … establish by this Charter the international organization that they have developed to achieve an order of peace and justice, to promote their solidarity, to strengthen their collaboration, and to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity, and their independence.

_The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by this Charter, none of whose provisions authorizes it to intervene in matters that are within the internal jurisdiction of the Member States._

It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. … during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019 in relation to Resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) rev. 2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize all resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

5. … on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any other body of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognise any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

6. … Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary-General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.
Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

Therefore Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that until further notice, it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any Council or organ of the Organization that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.

4. To underscore the need to ensure and enhance administrative and budgetary support for the CJI and for the course on international law that the CJI and the Department of International Law, the latter in its capacity as Technical Secretariat, organize annually in Rio de Janeiro. ii. Inter-American Program for the Development of International Law

RESOLVES:

1. BEARING IN MIND that the OAS member states must cooperate to promote development of activities and technical instruments that further individuals’ comprehensive protection and improvement in their quality of life, and that a Model Law is a normative tool that seeks to provide the countries that use it with guidance for their public policies,

RESOLVES:

INTER-AMERICAN OPEN DATA PROGRAM

Background and rationale

Article 4 of the Inter-American Democratic Charter states that “transparency in government activities, probity, responsible public administration on the part of governments ... are essential components of the exercise of democracy.”

A state that works and a democracy that delivers and responds transparently, efficiently, and effectively to citizens’ demands is essential in strengthening the basic legitimacy of democratically elected governments, regardless of their political and ideological orientation or their strategic national objectives. Satisfaction with democracy is directly related to effective governance and to the way in which the state provides its citizens with public services.

Transparency means not only placing checks on corruption and abuses of power, but also ensuring the right of all citizens to access public information. Each member state has the sovereign authority to determine its course of action in the fight against corruption, in particular as regards the regulatory frameworks that exist for that purpose. What determines whether a transparency policy is effective or not is the way in which information correlates to how people make decisions. It is not merely a matter of making information available to the public, but of making useful information accessible and providing it in the right location, context, and time.

Open data are digital data that are made available to the public, equipped with the technical and legal characteristics necessary for them to be used, reused, and redistributed freely by any person, at any time, and in any place.

The databases currently made public by authorities at different levels of government contain vital information on the management of public affairs, although they are not always presented in user-friendly formats that are understandable to a majority of citizens.

Many countries have developed open data policies, strategies, and initiatives that help promote transparency in public administration. The OAS General Secretariat, through the Latin American Open Data Initiative (ILDA), has supported five of the region’s countries in developing national open data policies and strategies drawn up in collaboration with civil society. Such policies are necessary to create legal and regulatory frameworks, establish principles for the development and implementation of initiatives for improving transparency and the provision of public services, and facilitate citizen participation.

At the global level, there is the International Open Data Charter: a multisectoral initiative that works for the adoption of principles and standards for openness and that has launched a new guide to assist governments in taking action to combat corruption through the use of open data, including open contracting mechanisms.

In spite of the progress made by some of the region’s countries, much remains to be done in the adoption of principles and the development of policies, strategies, and initiatives to promote the use of open data in increasing transparency, facilitating citizen participation, and improving the provision of public services.

Thus, through agreed-on regional commitments and mandates, the member states have recognized the need for institutional frameworks and appropriate legal bases, more sophisticated management systems, and open data initiatives but, above all, for a profound change in the culture of public institutions.

Against that backdrop, at the Eighth Summit of the Americas in Lima, Peru, in April 2018, the Heads of State and Government signed the Lima Commitment on Democratic Governance against Corruption, in which they agreed to promote “the establishment of an Inter-American Open Data Program within the OAS in order to strengthen open information policies and increase the capacity of governments and citizens to prevent and fight corruption, bearing in mind the important work done in this field within the inter-American framework and other regional and global initiatives.”

Subsequently, at the forty-eighth regular session of the OAS General Assembly, the member states adopted resolution AG/RES. 2927 (XLVIII-O/18), “Strengthening Democracy,” in which they requested “the OAS General Secretariat, through the Department for Effective Public Management, to coordinate, through collaboration among the competent authorities in member states, with the active participation of civil society, academia, and the private sector, the crafting of a proposal for an Inter-American Open Data Program to strengthen policies for openness with information, transparency and to increase government and citizen capacity to prevent and fight corruption, taking into account the important work done at the inter-American level in this area, as well as other regional and global initiatives.”

As of April 2019, regulations governing the implementation of open data are in place in 12 countries of the Americas. Those instruments vary in terms of the type of legislation used and their strategies and policies. Some of these regulatory devices are governed by existing legislation on access to public information, while others are independent initiatives that, although they have connections to existing laws governing access to public information, have been established by political mandate.

Those policies are the result of participatory processes in which civil society and governments discussed the scope and contents of the initiatives. The OAS General Secretariat’s Department for Effective Public Management has supported several of those countries through a participatory mechanism for discussing and recommending actions through which those policies can be consolidated.

According to the figures referred to above, 34% of the region’s countries have some level of open data regulations, whereas 8% are in the process of creating them and 58% have none. The absence of regulations for open data means some countries lag behind in their use in anticorruption efforts. A similar effect is seen in those countries that do have regulations but have not yet succeeded in actually enforcing them. However, it should be noted that technological developments evolve at a greater speed than regulations and that therefore, even in the absence of regulations, the countries have pressed ahead with the launch of their national open data websites. According to the ECLAC report Panorama regional de los datos abiertos: avances y desafíos en América Latina y el Caribe [Regional overview of open data: Progress and challenges in Latin America and the Caribbean], 18 countries have made advances in that direction.

Implementation of the Program is voluntary for the participating member states.

INTER-AMERICAN OPEN DATA PROGRAM

A. As regards the member states:

2. Make progress with the implementation of domestic laws and regulations, including policies and strategies, for open data.

3. Make progress with public data disclosure and seek to develop new open contracting instruments in order to combat corruption.

5. Publish the identified data sets in formats that are accessible to the citizenship, that can be reused and updated, and that are comparable and interoperable.

6. Strengthen the data openness capacity of public institutions, including openness in systems for public procurement.

7. Develop technical documents to promote standards and adherence to national and international best practices in order to enhance interoperability of published databases.

8. Strive to adhere to the open-source code, license, and software philosophy in the government procurement openness exercise and in the implementation of the Anticorruption Open Up Guide.

Promote data openness in all branches of government and at all levels of the domestic government structure, at the federal, state, and local levels, and in agencies, independent or autonomous bodies, and entities either belonging to the state or under its control, and any other agency, body, or entity that administers or executes public resources, state assets, or act of the public administration in general.

11. Make provision for personal data anonymity processes and mechanisms in data set openness, in order to protect the identification of persons, as permitted by the laws of each State.

12. Promote access to and use of open data by the public as part of a national strategy of accountability, transparency, and citizen participation in state actions.

13. Promote the allocation of funds by all public institutions, so that the identified priority data sets can be opened.

14. Consider attending the special meetings of the OAS Permanent Council’s Committee on Juridical and Political Affairs to assess the countries’ progress with implementing the program and to exchange good practices with a view to strengthening the member states’ capacity for promoting transparency and pursuing anticorruption efforts.

B. As regards the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States:

• Provide support in implementing the Inter-American Open Data Program to those member states that so request, in particular by:

  a. Reviewing and providing advice on the updating of regulatory frameworks for data openness.

  b. Strengthening the training of public officials in the public data openness and usage cycle, including in connection with open contracting and other areas requested by member states, and enhance public awareness of the importance of public data openness.

  d. Supporting the development and implementation of the open data instruments that each state decides are appropriate for its anticorruption efforts, including in the area of public procurement.

  e. Promoting data openness as a tool to bolster transparency, effectiveness, and citizen participation in the public policy cycle.

  g. Coordinating support efforts for the member states through the Network of e-Government Leaders of Latin America and the Caribbean (Red GEALC) and

h. i. Draw up a map of actors linked to the open-data program and system and their needs, in order to facilitate measures to prevent and combat corruption.

j. Conduct feasibility studies on the implementation of different open information solutions, including data sets in real time.

k. Developing, managing, and maintaining an online platform containing relevant information on progress with the implementation of this open data program in each member state. The tool will support efforts to exchange experiences and knowledge on the topic.

C. As regards other strategic partners and international cooperation:

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. ... during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019 in relation to Resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) rev. 2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize All resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognise any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

6. ... Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary-General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.
Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

Therefore Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that until further notice, it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any Council or organ of the Organization that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.

The United States also underscores that paragraph 18 of the 2030 Agenda calls for countries to implement the Agenda in a manner that is consistent with the rights and obligations of States under international law. We also highlight our mutual recognition in paragraph 58 that 2030 Agenda implementation must respect and be without prejudice to the independent mandates of other processes and institutions, including negotiations, and does not prejudge or serve as precedent for decisions and actions underway in other forums. For example, this Agenda does not represent a commitment to provide new market access for goods or services. This Agenda also does not interpret or alter any WTO agreement or decision, including the Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property.

The Government of Barbados therefore reserves its rights, until further notice, not to be bound by any decisions or resolutions adopted at this General Assembly in which the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela participated.

5. … on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any other body of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognise any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

6. … Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary-General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.
Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

Therefore Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that until further notice, it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any Council or organ of the Organization that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.
HEMISPHERIC EFFORTS TO COMBAT THE USE OF MOBILE TERMINAL DEVICES THAT HAVE BEEN STOLEN, LOST, OR TAMPERED WITH

(Adopted at the first plenary session, held on June, 27, 2019)

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

HAVING SEEN the Inter-American Telecommunication Commission (CITEL) “Technical Report on the Use of Stolen, Lost or Tampered Mobile Terminal Devices” (CP/CG/INF.32/19);

CONSIDERING THAT:

The positive impact of mobile telecommunications and its technological developments have increased the penetration of smart mobile devices, which in turn has brought about a dramatic increase in device theft, accompanied by threats to life and personal safety, becoming a domestic and regional citizen safety concern with powerful social repercussions;

Law enforcement, public security authorities, judicial and other relevant authorities involved in fighting this and other crimes have identified the activities of international criminal organizations engaged in this crime because it has become a lucrative business and a way to keep communications anonymous;

Despite the efforts and progress member states have made internally in combating this scourge, illegal cross-border trafficking in stolen devices and their parts has increased; and

Technological measures, such as blocking stolen devices from domestic and international mobile networks, depend on the devices’ security ID, which criminals tamper with so as to reintroduce those devices in the market, rendering such security measures less effective;

6. Antigua and Barbuda considers that the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela is not a member state of the Organization of American States since, on 27 April 2017, the Government of the Bolivarian …
That the Inter-American Telecommunication Commission (CITEL), recognizing the seriousness and the social repercussions of mobile device theft, at the 19th Meeting of Permanent Consultative Committee I: Telecommunications/Information and Communications Technologies (PCC.I), in September 2011, issued resolution CCP.I/RES.189 (XIX-11), “Regional Measures against Mobile Terminal Device Theft,” in which it urged the member states, among other measures, to include in their regulations provisions to ban the activation and use of IDs of devices reported as stolen or lost, or illegally obtained, which are included in domestic, regional, or international databases;

RECOGNIZING:

The efforts and progress made by member states, the industry (mobile manufacturers and carriers/operators), and law enforcement, public security authorities, judicial and other relevant authorities in combating mobile device theft and tampering or duplication of mobile ICT device identifiers;

The progress made in sharing information on and blocking stolen devices, with partial success among member states, using technology and databases provided by the industry; and

The fact that applications are available to enable users to protect their personal data and render the devices useless if they are stolen or lost;

MINDFUL THAT:

Information sharing on stolen or lost mobile devices and the possibility of blocking them from mobile networks in all member states is key to mitigating the consequences of this issue;

Tampering with or duplicating stolen or lost device unique IDs evades blocking and has an impact on genuine equipment manufacturers, importers, marketers, and users, and therefore high device security standards are needed to prevent such tampering and to detect and block/blacklist such devices with tampered or duplicated IDs;

Users should adopt applications that protect their data and allow them to render their devices useless in order to block access to internet networks and other uses; and

Besides these technological measures, it is necessary for law enforcement, customs, and judicial authorities to be part of this effort to prevent the use, sale, import, and export of devices that are stolen, lost, or tampered with/duplicated,

RESOLVES:

1. To encourage member states to share device identifier information, block mobile devices that have been reported stolen or lost in other states, and include in their regulations provisions to ban the activation or use of such devices and work in coordination, as appropriate, with relevant subregional organizations on this matter.

2. To invite member states to collaborate with the industry in taking steps to increase user adoption of anti-theft applications and to promote measures and requirements to improve device security against tampering with its unique identifier.

3. To invite member states to implement strategies and/or adopt processes to detect and block mobile devices whose identifiers have been tampered with or duplicated.
4. To urge member states to strengthen their regulatory frameworks including heavier penalties, as well as law enforcement, public security measures, and other relevant measures to combat imports, exports, sale, or use of devices that are stolen, lost, tampered with, or duplicated.

5. To invite member states and industry stakeholders to share their successful experiences and best practices, with a view to collaborating with and assisting other member states with the adoption and strengthening of measures to combat the use of devices that are stolen, lost, tampered with, or duplicated.

6. To urge member states, through their CITEL Administrations, to submit biannual reports on this specific subject, for study by the relevant CITEL bodies and as a result of which to include in CITEL's Annual Report a chapter on this subject, highlighting: a) The number of reported stolen devices and threats to life or personal safety; b) Technological advances being implemented to discourage these crimes; and, c) Regulatory measures and/or government policies passed or adopted to support public or private efforts on this issue.

Resolution AG/RES. 2917 (XLVIII-O/18), “The Leading Role of the Organization of American States in Developing Telecommunications/Information and Communication Technologies through the Inter-American Telecommunication Commission (CITEL),” adopted on June 4, 2018; and,

NOTING resolution CITEL/RES. 80 (VII-18), “Strengthening of CITEL within the OAS,” adopted by the Seventh Regular Meeting of the CITEL Assembly, in which CITEL invites the Organization of American States (OAS) General Assembly to bring its commitment in line with CITEL’s financial sustainability; and

That CITEL is the specialized agency of the OAS for telecommunications and ICTs, and as such effectively contributes to the implementation of the four OAS pillars and the mandates and initiatives of the Summits of the Americas, to which end it has encouraged, along with the region’s political leaders, actions such as the launch of the public-private 2030 ICT Alliance for the Americas, calls for greater investment in broadband infrastructure and promotion of broadband access in the interests of social inclusion, as well as the Rural Women’s Alliance – Empowering Rural Women Through ICTs;

That, reflecting its unique membership-based role and its ability to bring academia, the private sector, the technical community, and government together, CITEL promoted the interests of the entire hemisphere at the 2018 International Telecommunications Union (ITU) Plenipotentiary Conference by getting 87% of its inter-American proposals included in the resolutions that were adopted, as well as in the elections in which it secured the directorships of the Radiocommunication and the Telecommunication Development bureaus for the region;

That according to the ITU, a third of the people of the region currently have no access to broadband connectivity, and that it is important to continue strengthening CITEL as a crucial arena for cooperation in communications and ICTs in the Americas, and in particular in its role as a forum to discuss and reach agreements on digital inclusion, radio spectrum use, development of telecommunication infrastructure, and creation of an enabling environment for investment in ICTs;

That efforts made to facilitate the process of switching from analog to digital television (DTT) and the allocation of the digital dividend taking into account mutual compatibility among broadcasting and mobile stations on the VHF and UHF bands within Central America and the Caribbean laid the groundwork for spectrum coordination and future collaboration;

That steps were taken by CITEL in coordination with ITU, Caribbean Telecommunications Union (CTU), and the Regional Technical Telecommunication Commission (COMTELCA) to improve communications and response capabilities with a view to building resilience to disasters and emergency situations in the region; and

That, having assessed the positive results of the work that has been done, CITEL needs to be made financially sustainable in order to ensure that it will be equipped with the tools required to continue with its tasks and to implement its 2018-2022 Strategic Plan in line with the Comprehensive Strategic Plan of the Organization,

RESOLVES:

1. To encourage Organization of American States (OAS) member states to step up horizontal cooperation and exchange of information, experiences, and best practices among themselves with regard to telecommunications and information and communication technologies (ICTs), with the support of the Inter-American Telecommunication Commission (CITEL) Secretariat.

2. To encourage OAS member states to carry out activities in their countries and in the region to advance connectivity and broadband access as a fundamental driver of sustainable development.

3. To request the OAS General Secretariat to continue taking into account the financial needs of CITEL, when preparing the draft program-budget for 2020 for consideration by the Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Affairs and adoption by the General Assembly, in keeping with resolution CITEL/RES. 80 (VII-18), adopted at the Seventh Regular Meeting of the CITEL Assembly, and with resolution AG/RES. 1 (LIII-E/18), “Program-Budget of the Organization for 2019,” adopted at the fifty-third special session of the OAS General Assembly, so that the Commission can continue fulfilling its goals and mission, and function optimally.

4. To request the CITEL Secretariat to report to the OAS General Assembly at its fiftieth regular session on the implementation of this resolution, execution of which will be subject to the availability of financial resources in the program-budget of the Organization and other resources.

2. … by this Charter the international organization that they have developed to achieve an order of peace and justice, to promote their solidarity, to strengthen their collaboration, and to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity, and their independence.

“The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by this Charter, none of whose provisions authorizes it to intervene in matters that are within the internal jurisdiction of the Member States.”

It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. … during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019 in relation to Resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/ 19) rev. 2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize All resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

This reservation is based on our firm rejection of the selective interpretation of the procedural rules and other legal instruments of the Organization of American States.

4. … Permanent Representative to the OAS and does not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at this forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the OAS. The Government of Barbados therefore reserves its rights, until further notice, not to be bound by any decisions or resolutions adopted at this General Assembly in which the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela participated.

5. … on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any other body of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognise any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of the Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

6. … Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary-General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.
Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

Therefore Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that until further notice, it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any Council or organ of the Organization that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.

FOOTNOTES

1. ... on Credentials) and in the Footnote to the ‘Report of the Secretary General on the Presentation of Credentials of the Delegations Taking Part in the Forty-Ninth Regular Session of the General Assembly,’ document AG/doc.5653/19.

2. ... by this Charter the international organization that they have developed to achieve an order of peace and justice, to promote their solidarity, to strengthen their collaboration, and to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity, and their independence.

“The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by this Charter, none of whose provisions authorizes it to intervene in matters that are within the internal jurisdiction of the Member States.”

It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. ... during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019 in relation to Resolution CP/RES.1124 (2217/19) rev.2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize All resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

This reservation is based on our firm rejection of the selective interpretation of the procedural rules and other legal instruments of the Organization of American States.

4. ... Permanent Representative to the OAS and does not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at this forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the OAS. The Government of Barbados therefore reserves its rights, until further notice, not to be bound by any decisions or resolutions adopted at this General Assembly in which the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela participated.

5. ... on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any other body of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognize any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

6. ... the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary-General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.
Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

Therefore Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that until further notice, it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any Council or organ of the Organization that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.

7. … due to the fact that the Heads of State and Government at those Summits did not adopt the political declarations containing the mandates and the operative paragraphs on the thematic areas that were part of the political declaration.

With respect to the Eighth Summit of the Americas, the Republic of Nicaragua does not approve the Lima Commitment “Democratic Governance against Corruption,” nor other documents, declarations, communiqués, or resolutions issued by the Eighth Summit of the Americas, because it was not involved in negotiating them.

8. …. 2030 Agenda. We underscore that the 2030 Agenda is non-binding and does not create or affect rights or obligations under international law, nor does it create any new financial commitments. The United States recognizes the 2030 Agenda as a global framework for sustainable development that can help countries work toward global peace and prosperity. We applaud the call for shared responsibility, including national responsibility, in the 2030 Agenda and emphasize that all countries have a role to play in achieving its vision. The 2030 Agenda recognizes that each country must work toward implementation in accordance with its own national policies and priorities. The United States also underscores that paragraph 18 of the 2030 Agenda calls for countries to implement the Agenda in a manner that is consistent with the rights and obligations of States under international law. We also highlight our mutual recognition in paragraph 58 that 2030 Agenda implementation must respect and be without prejudice to the independent mandates of other processes and institutions, including negotiations, and does not prejudge or serve as precedent for decisions and actions underway in other forums. For example, this Agenda does not represent a commitment to provide new market access for goods or services. This Agenda also does not interpret or alter any WTO agreement or decision, including the Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property.

With respect to references to the Global Compact for Safe, Orderly, and Regular Migration in this text, as noted in our December 7, 2018, national statement posted on the USUN website, the United States does not support the Compact or the September 2016 New York Declaration. We therefore object to the adoption of resolutions that establish processes to implement or support the migration Compact objectives. We are not bound by any of the endorsements, commitments, or outcomes stemming from the Compact process or contained in the Compact itself. The United States proclaims and reaffirms its belief that decisions about how to secure its borders, and who to admit for legal residency or citizenship, are among the most important sovereign decisions a State can make. They are not subject to negotiation or review in international instruments or fora. The United States also opposes the creation of new funding mechanisms and bureaucracies when there are already multiple UN agencies that manage existing mechanisms for addressing migration related issues, such as through the IOM, the ILO, and UNODC.

The United States also notes the direct and indirect references in this text to a range of international instruments to which many countries, including the United States, are not a party, creating a false sense of implicit international support and recognition for such documents. For instance, the United States is not a party to the International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of Their Families, the Convention on the Rights of the Child, and International Labor Organization (ILO) conventions in the area of labor migration. The United States is not bound by obligations or commitments contained in international instruments to which it is not a party.

9. … to support this paragraph, owing to the reference it makes to the Global Compact for Migration. Chile expressly and explicitly stated at the United Nations General Assembly on December 19, 2018, that it did not accede to the Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration; therefore, it will not be party to any mention of the Compact in which it may participate or collaborate with its position and/or consensus.

3. To request the General Secretariat, through the Secretariat for Access to Rights and urge member states and permanent observers to contribute to that fund, in keeping with their capacities, laws, and national priorities.

xiii. Gender equity and balanced geographic and legal-system representation on the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights and the Inter-American Court of Human Rights

CONSIDERING the importance of consolidating balanced gender representation, equitable geographic distribution, and representation of the different legal systems on the IACHR and the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, ensuring full and equitable access by men and women in keeping with the principles of impartiality, independence, and non-discrimination so that they can continue to carry out their mandates effectively; and

UNDERSCORING that a balanced integration of gender and an equitable geographic distribution, as well as a balanced representation of different legal systems on the IACHR and the Court, will strengthen the work and impact of these organs and result in sound treatment of the topics and problems in the region, in the areas of prevention, promotion, protection, and guarantee of human rights, with special attention to issues of non-discrimination,

RESOLVES:

1. To encourage member states, when nominating and selecting judges of the Inter-American Court of Human Rights and commissioners of the IACHR, to consolidate balanced gender representation and equitable regional geographic representation, and an appropriate balance of population groups and legal systems of the Hemisphere, while guaranteeing the requirements of independence, impartiality, and recognized competence in the field of human rights.

2. To encourage member states to take measures at a national level to widely publicize the available posts and consider balanced gender and population group representation, as well as independence, impartiality, and recognized competence in human rights issues as the main criteria for the selection and election of candidates to the IACHR and the Court.

3. To instruct the CAJP to deepen its work on this topic, including in its 2019-2020 work program, by holding a follow-up meeting at which member states, experts, and civil society share best practices in the nomination and selection of candidates to the organs of the inter-American human rights system, including information on existing national procedures, policies, and practices, with a view to promoting at the IACHR and the Court gender parity, non-discrimination, and balance among the different regions and legal systems of the Hemisphere.

4. To instruct the Permanent Council to invite the candidates proposed by member states for the position of judge on the Court or commissioner on the IACHR to deliver a public presentation to the Permanent Council prior to their election, to the extent possible, to describe in greater depth what their vision, proposals, and initiatives would be if elected. Such presentations, where possible, should be made at the same meeting of the Permanent Council and be disseminated as widely as possible.
RECALLING that the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment, and Eradication of Violence against Women (Convention of Belém do Pará) establishes the duty of the States Party to pursue, by all appropriate means and without delay, policies and programs to prevent, punish, and eradicate discrimination and violence against women and girls in the public and private spheres; and mindful that it is important and necessary to strengthen the Convention’s follow-up mechanism, the MESECVI;

CONSIDERING that in the Follow-up Phase of the MESECVI Third Multilateral Evaluation Round on the Implementation of the Convention of Belém Do Pará, pursuant to Articles 7 and 8 of the Convention, the need was identified to focus efforts on ensuring the right of women and girls to live and to be valued and educated free of stereotyped patterns of behavior, as well as to eliminate common social and cultural practices based on concepts of inferiority or subordination, in order to further the prevention of violence against them in the region as an indispensable condition for their individual and social development and their full and equal participation in all spheres of life;

NOTING WITH SATISFACTION the adoption by the MESECVI Committee of Experts of the Inter-American Model Law to Prevent, Punish, and Eradicate the Violent Death of Women (Femicide - Feminicide) (MESECVI/CEVI/doc.248/18 rev. 1) and General Recommendation No. 1 on Self-Defense and Gender-Based Violence according to Article 2 of the Convention of Belém do Pará (MESECVI/CEVI/doc.249/18), and General Recommendation No. 2 on Missing Women and Girls in the Hemisphere according to Articles 7.b and 8 of the Convention of Belém do Pará (MESECVI/CEVI/doc.250/18);

CONCERNED about the scarce human and financial resources provided for MESECVI’s functioning, which jeopardizes its ability to effectively comply with its mandate and to continue acting as a hemispheric pacesetter in preventing and punishing violence against women; and

BEARING IN MIND that this year—2019—is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the adoption of the Convention of Belém do Pará by the General Assembly of the OAS and that it constitutes even today the inter-American convention with the greatest support of member states inasmuch as it has the largest number of ratifications,

RESOLVES:

1. To reaffirm its commitment to strengthening the MESECVI and to support its Committee of Experts in its work to follow up on the full implementation of the Convention; to facilitate the creation of tools and to bolster training processes and technical support to the states party and civil society in fulfillment of inter-American standards for the protection of women’s human rights.

2. To promote, in the Follow-Up Phase of the MESECVI Third Multilateral Evaluation Round, effective implementation of the Mechanism’s recommendations, by adapting national legal systems for the protection of women’s rights in their respective public policies for preventing and eradicating violence against women, enacting and implementing laws that protect women’s rights, together with public policies to prevent and eradicate violence against women and girls, taking into account the reality of the diversity of women in the region and with the contribution, to the extent that is possible, of appropriate budgets for their effective implementation.

3. To underscore the adoption of the Inter-American Model Law to Prevent, Punish and Eradicate the Violent Death of Women (Femicide – Feminicide) (MESECVI/CEVI/doc.248/18 rev. 1) and General Recommendation No. 1 on Self-Defense and Gender-Based Violence according to Article 2 of the Convention of Belém do Pará (MESECVI/CEVI/doc.249/18), and General Recommendation No. 2 on Missing Women and Girls in the Hemisphere according to Articles 7.b and 8 of the Convention of Belém do Pará (MESECVI/CEVI/doc.250/18); and to request the MESECVI Technical Secretariat to disseminate them and support the states party in their implementation should they request it.

4. To encourage legal reforms and mechanisms to prevent, punish, and address violence against women in political life, taking as reference, where appropriate, the Inter-American Model Law to Prevent, Punish and Eradicate Violence against Women in Political Life.

5. To request that the MESECVI Technical Secretariat promote the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the adoption of the Convention of Belém do Pará, and continue its dissemination efforts in order to elaborate on tools to promote and defend women’s human rights, as well as raise awareness of society as a whole regarding violence against women based on an intersectional and human rights approach.

6. To reiterate to the OAS General Secretariat the importance of equipping the Mechanism’s Technical Secretariat with the human, technical, and financial resources needed for its optimal functioning, in compliance with the standing mandates of MESECVI.

7. To encourage the Secretariat of the Inter-American Commission of Women (CIM), as Technical Secretariat of the MESECVI, to promote and support dialogue among states with the objective of carrying out the mandates set down in the Convention of Belém do Pará and to report on the results to the General Assembly at its fiftieth regular session.

RECOGNIZING the importance that member states take steps effectively to implement the recommendations put forward by the IACHR in light of resolution AG/RES. 2672 (XLI-O/11); and

BEARING IN MIND that the Monitoring System for International Recommendations on Human Rights (SIMORE), a mechanism developed by the Republic of Paraguay in collaboration with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, is recognized as a good practice in implementing international recommendations, as are the other national compliance mechanisms; and the Memorandum of Understanding for the Exchange of Experiences and Technical Cooperation signed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Paraguay and the IACHR,

RESOLVES:

1. To acknowledge the IACHR for continuing to strengthen its capacity to follow up on its recommendations in the framework of its 2017-2021 Strategic Plan and for its objective to put into operation the Inter-American Recommendations Monitoring System (Inter-American SIMORE), taking into account the practice of member states in that area.

BEARING IN MIND the commitments made by the states parties with respect to protecting the rights of persons with disabilities in the Americas, as enshrined in the Inter-American Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Persons with Disabilities (CIADDIS) and in the Program of Action for the Decade of the Americas for the Rights and Dignity of Persons with Disabilities 2016-2026 (PAD); and

APPLAUDING the approval of the update to the PAD and the creation of the Joint Working Group to Follow Up on the Implementation of the PAD,

RESOLVES:

1. To encourage the OAS member states that are not party to the Inter-American Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Persons with Disabilities (CIADDIS) to adhere to and ratify said Convention for the purpose of stepping up regional efforts in the area of inclusion of persons with disabilities and, at the same time, to reiterate the importance of making voluntary contributions to the Specific Fund for the Committee for the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Persons with Disabilities (CEDDIS) [CP/RES. 947 (1683/09)], established for the purpose of supplementing the funding of the activities of CEDDIS and its Technical Secretariat, as well as to urge the States Party to make further efforts to implement the recommendations made by the CEDDIS in its assessments by area of action to the national reports on the implementation of the CIADDIS-Program of Action for the Decade of the Americas for the Rights and Dignity of Persons with Disabilities 2016-2026 (PAD).

xxi. Follow-up on the Inter-American Program for Universal Civil Registry and the “Right to Identity”

CONSIDERING that the recognition of people’s identity facilitates the exercise of the right to a name, to nationality, to civil registration, to family relations, and to legal personality, together with other rights enshrined in such international instruments as the American Declaration of the Rights and Duties of Man and the American Convention on Human Rights, and understanding that the exercise of those rights is essential for the consolidation of any democratic society;

CONSIDERING ALSO that Goal 16, “Promote peaceful and inclusive societies,” of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development includes target 16.9, “By 2030, provide legal identity for all, including birth registration”;

RECOGNIZING the work carried out by the Universal Civil Identity Program in the Americas (PUICA) to support member states in their efforts to reduce the under-registration of births in the region and full recognition of the right to identity;

TAKING NOTE that the Latin America and Caribbean Council for Civil Registration, Identity, and Vital Statistics (CLARCEIV) – for which the OAS General Secretariat serves as the Executive Secretariat – is the institutional forum that, since 2005, has been promoting the recognition of identity and the registration of births in the region, through interinstitutional ties and exchanges of knowledge and experiences among agencies responsible for civil registration, documentation, and vital statistics,

RESOLVES:
1. To instruct the General Secretariat, through its Universal Civil Identity Program in the Americas (PUICA), to continue providing assistance to those member states that so request for the strengthening of their civil registration systems in order to ensure the protection and upholding of the Right to Identity, the universal registering of births, deaths, and other changes in civil status, and of interconnections between registration systems and national identity systems in order to ensure legal identity for everyone, and thereby strengthen the protection of all human rights, particularly those of populations that are vulnerable, displaced, and/or historically subject to discrimination, as well as eradicate statelessness and allow universal and equitable access to essential public services.

2. To urge all member states to promote the access of all persons to identity documents by implementing effective and interoperable civil registration and vital statistics systems, including simplified, free, and nondiscriminatory procedures that respect cultural diversity, taking particular care with the protection of personal information and following an integral and differentiated gender and rights approach.

II. FOLLOW-UP AND REPORTING

RESOLVES:

1. To instruct the General Secretariat to submit in due course, through the areas responsible for follow-up and execution of activities in connection with the purposes of this resolution, the plan of activities that it will carry out in the 2019-2020 period, for consultation or proper oversight by member states.

2. To request the Permanent Council to instruct the CAJP to include in its agenda the following matters covered by this resolution, prior to the fiftieth regular session of the General Assembly, with a view to promoting exchanges of experiences and best practices:

   “Autonomous official public defenders as a safeguard for the personal safety of all individuals, without any kind of discrimination.” The holding, in the first quarter of 2020, of an eighth special meeting of the CAJP on the mechanisms for detention center monitoring that are in place in each official public defender institution in the region, to be attended by the member states and their respective official public defender institutions that provide legal assistance, members of the AIDeF, of the IACHR, through its Rapporteurship on the Rights of Persons Deprived of Liberty, and experts from the academic community, civil society, and international organizations. Attendance by members of the AIDeF will be guaranteed by that organization.

3. To request the Permanent Council to report to the General Assembly at its fiftieth regular session on the implementation of this resolution. Execution of the activities envisaged in this resolution will be subject to the availability of financial resources in the program-budget of the Organization and other resources.

2. … establish by this Charter the international organization that they have developed to achieve an order of peace and justice, to promote their solidarity, to strengthen their collaboration, and to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity, and their independence.

The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by this Charter, none of whose provisions authorizes it to intervene in matters that are within the internal jurisdiction of the Member States.”

It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. … Jamaican Constitution. Jamaica, however, expresses its reservation regarding certain terms used in the resolution including “gender identity” and “gender expression” which are not defined in Jamaican law and have not gained international acceptance.

4. … universally recognized human rights.

5. … during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019 in relation to Resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) rev. 2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize All resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

This reservation is based on our firm rejection of the selective interpretation of the procedural rules and other legal instruments of the Organization of American States.

6. … Representative to the OAS and does not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at this forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the OAS. The Government of Barbados therefore reserves its rights, until further notice, not to be bound by any decisions or resolutions adopted at this General Assembly in which the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela participated.

7. … on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any other body of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognise any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

8. Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary-General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.

Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

Therefore Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that until further notice, it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any Council or organ of the Organization that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.

10. … International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights.

12. … imply that States must become parties to instruments to which they are not a party or implement obligations under human rights instruments to which they are not a party, including, in the case of the United States, the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

13. … responsibility, including national responsibility, in the 2030 Agenda and emphasize that all countries have a role to play in achieving its vision. The 2030 Agenda recognizes that each country must work toward implementation in accordance with its own national policies and priorities. The United States also underscores that paragraph 18 of the 2030 Agenda calls for countries to implement the Agenda in a manner that is consistent with the rights and obligations of States under international law. We also highlight our mutual recognition in paragraph 58 that 2030 Agenda implementation must respect and be without prejudice to the independent mandates of other processes and institutions, including negotiations, and does not prejudice or serve as precedent for decisions and actions underway in other forums. For example, this Agenda does not represent a commitment to provide new market access for goods or services. This Agenda also does not interpret or alter any WTO agreement or decision, including the Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property.”

14. … countries, thereby applying a double standard in its treatment of human rights in the region. The foregoing is incompatible with its task of promoting and protecting human rights, which must be carried out impartially.

The Government of Reconciliation and National Unity (GRUN) respects human rights and reaffirms our commitment to continuing to promote and protect the fundamental rights of Nicaraguans, without exclusion.

The Commission’s bias, double standard, and failure to be impartial on the issue of human rights in Nicaragua attests to the IACHR being exploited for political purposes, helping to further the objectives of organizations and movements interested in gaining political power by de facto rather than legal means and in impacting economic development, peace, harmony, and security in the country.

After conducting a thorough review of the sources of information and references used for the “Preliminary Document on Chapter IV.B of the Annual Report on Nicaragua,” our findings were that, of the total number of sources (327), 179, or 55%, were biased press releases and reports drafted by the IACHR itself; 57 (17%) were drawn from biased information from nongovernmental organizations (NGOs) and entities that are notoriously opposed to the GRUN; 59 (18%) comprised information from media opposed to the government; and 32 (10%) cited information from social media that automatically reproduce information from stakeholders that are openly hostile to the Government of Reconciliation and National Unity (GRUN), containing distorted information that is taken out of context.
The State of Nicaragua is absolute in stating its position that the incidents referred to by the IACHR in its Annual Report are not part of peaceful social protests, but rather are part of an attempt to break down constitutional and institutional order so as to change legitimately elected authorities and bring down the government (that is, a failed coup attempt). This Report is prejudiced against the state’s actions by emphasizing alleged human rights violations and including statements that are unsubstantiated and lacking in objectivity.

The State of Nicaragua wishes to reiterate that the outcomes of the events unfolding in our country since April 2018 provide evidence that the acts of violence carried out by these groups involved armed individuals intentionally inflicting violence on police officers, government officials, and the population as a whole, causing damage to public and private property, and fomenting instability and terror, the aim being, from the very outset, to overthrow the government and break down constitutional order.

The State of Nicaragua reaffirms that repressing peaceful social protests, much less the use of excessive and arbitrary force by the National Police, is not state policy; suffice it to mention the many marches that have taken place in the country, with no deaths or injuries. We reject careless and baseless statements made against the State of Nicaragua and, in particular, against the National Police, simply based on reports of unclear incidents – reports that are still being investigated by the competent authorities of the country.

The so-called report deliberately omits to mention that the violent protests took place in various stages; that they were part of a strategy to overthrow the government, wherein the victim has been the people of Nicaragua because of the violation of their right to life, physical and mental well-being, freedom of movement and travel, work, education, safety, health, and truthful information. The incidents of violence that occurred were not peaceful protests, but rather a violation of the constitution, of the laws, and of the rights of citizens, in which the government had to urgently restore law and order and give back society its legitimate rights.

The State of Nicaragua continues and will continue to work toward peace and stability, for truth and justice, constitutional order, social order, and human rights to prevail for all Nicaraguans, without exclusion, as well as for persons in our country, who are from other countries.

15. … committed to preventing, punishing, and eradicating violence against women and, in particular, prosecuting its perpetrators.

16. … of Democracy adopted at the thirty-sixth Assembly of Delegates of the Inter-American Commission of Women on May 8, 2019, because it does not align with the provisions of its Constitution and other concordant provisions of law. Paraguay will implement this section in accordance with its current law.

17. … and which it recognizes as well in international treaties. Because of that, it disassociates itself from all those references that include abortion.

20. … forms of violence against them. Saint Lucia is of the strong view that no one group of women and girls should be discriminated against or provided more protection or support than any other.

Additionally, the term “diverse women and girls” as used in the context of Section XVI lacks clear definition and is not fully comprehended by my delegation. For this reason, Saint Lucia enters its reservation on this section and will continue to work tirelessly to promote gender equality and empowerment of women and girls as defined by our national laws.

21. … promotion and preservation of the rule of law and the protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms of all people, as enshrined in the Constitution of Trinidad and Tobago.

At present, Trinidad and Tobago is awaiting final determination of a case before the Privy Council, which could potentially trigger a series of amendments with local legislation. These amendments, if enacted, could then bring the laws of Trinidad and Tobago in conformity with the consensus on this section. Until the final determination of the matter, the position of Trinidad and Tobago remains unchanged.

22. … and that it prohibits discrimination on any grounds. It also believes that the legal recognition of same-sex unions or the reasoned refusal to modify the institution of marriage in its legislation does not constitute an illicitly discriminatory practice.
Likewise, we recognize the right of all persons to enjoy fundamental liberties, without requiring any alteration to the anthropological bases that are the foundation for our legal system as a whole. Because of that, Guatemala disassociates itself from all those incompatible parts that contravene domestic legislation in force and has reservations on the interpretation of the terms under item xviii).

23. … Title II, “Rights, Duties, and Guarantees,” Chapter III, “Equality,” and Chapter IV, “The Rights of the Family,” of its national Constitution and related provisions. Consequently, it notes its reservation regarding the text of section xvii) “Human rights and prevention of discrimination and violence against LGBTI persons.” Furthermore, the expression “gender identity or expression,” as contained in other paragraphs of this resolution, will be interpreted in accordance with its domestic laws.

24. … Moreover, the Government of Saint Lucia is guided by the provisions of its Constitution, which promotes and protects the human rights, non-discrimination, and fundamental freedoms of all persons, and the preservation of the rule of law.

Saint Lucia believes that each and every citizen is entitled to protection against violence and arbitrary discrimination equally in keeping with our belief in the intrinsic dignity of the human person. We will continue to apply these principles in the application of all laws and policies. Saint Lucia is committed to the protection of the family, as a fundamental cell unit of society and in accordance with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Saint Lucia’s reservation to this section is therefore premised on the understanding that our national laws will continue to be applied to protect the rights and freedoms of all our citizens to the extent that each is equally entitled.

25. … As such, Barbados would not be in a position to meet these requirements. However, the Government of Barbados remains committed to protecting the rights of all from harm and violence, in keeping with the rule of law and the provisions of its Constitution.

26. … the equality of all human beings as enshrined in its Constitution. It is necessary to underscore that some of the terms in this resolution are not defined in the domestic laws of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines or internationally. Accordingly, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines disassociates itself from those terms that are incompatible with and contrary to its national laws, reserving its rights to interpret the terms of this resolution.

27. … equal claim to protection of person and property, does not discriminate on the grounds of birth, sex, race, language, religious origin, political believes, economic position or any other status.

As a multi-cultural society, the subject of sexual orientation and gender identity is one that requires a broad consultation process at the national level, involving all sectors of the society, including civil society. While the national process of consultations is an ongoing one, so far, a consensus has not been reached on the many principles expressed in this Resolution.

The Republic of Suriname would be willing to join in the adoption of this Resolution, but places on record that it can only be in a position to acknowledge some of the elements and principles addressed in this Resolution once its national consultation process is concluded and consensus is reached on these matters. The Government of Suriname remains committed to the inter-governmentally agreed human rights and fundamental freedoms as enshrined in the various international human rights instruments.

28. … initially placed on the record in 2007 and further elaborated in our footnote to OAS General Assembly resolution A/G/RES. 2888 (XLVI-O/16) of June 15, 2016. In particular, we reiterate our view that the focus of the member states of the OAS should be on implementation of the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples.
THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

BEARING IN MIND resolutions AG/RES. 2889 (XLVI-O/16), AG/RES. 2911 (XLVII-O/17), and AG/RES. 2923 (XLVIII-O/18), which requested the General Secretariat to pursue efforts, for the purpose of improving the transparency and efficiency of the General Secretariat's operations;

RESOLVES:

1. Ethics/Harassment
   a. To instruct the Secretary General to implement fully, through the Department of Human Resources, as part of the Secretariat for Administration and Finance, the updates to the Statements of Loyalty and of Ethics of Conduct and Conflicts of Interest of the General Secretariat, and to ensure that all personnel, including performance consultants (CPRs), participate as soon as possible in its newly developed compulsory training program on the General Secretariat’s Code of Ethics and Conduct.
   b. To instruct the Office of the Inspector General and the Office of the Ombudsperson to provide member states with a report on numbers of annual harassment cases handled, investigation timelines for each case, and actions taken to hold harassers accountable, as well as identify any observed gaps in the harassment policy.

2. Auditing/Transparency
   a. To call upon the Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Affairs, in collaboration with the General Secretariat, to prepare a follow-up report on progress toward implementing the recommendations of the Board of External Auditors, which shall be transmitted to the Permanent Council by November 1, and include current status, measures taken, and next steps, as well as identifying those with lead responsibility.

b. To instruct the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States (OAS) to request an external audit by international organizations such as the Multilateral Organization Performance Assessment Network (MOPAN) to strengthen oversight of the organization.

c. To instruct the Secretaries of all chapters, including specialized organs within chapters, to submit to the Permanent Council on a quarterly basis, a detailed report on the activities away from headquarters of their offices, including, inter alia, the following information: travel dates, destination, delegation, and objective, with a citation of which member states-approved mandate the travel fulfills.

d. To instruct the OAS General Secretariat to post on its website the reports of the activities away from headquarters of the Secretary General, Assistant Secretary General, and the Secretaries of all chapters, including, inter alia, the following information: travel dates, destination, delegation, and objective, with a citation of which member states-approved mandate the travel fulfills.

3. General Standards

To adopt the amendments to Chapter III of the General Standards to Govern the Operations of the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States (General Standards) concerning Article 29, “Autonomy in the Performance of Duties,” contained in Annex I hereto, which shall enter into effect upon adoption of this resolution.
4. Implementation

To commit to monitoring implementation of reform measures adopted to strengthen and improve the transparency, efficiency, and effectiveness of the OAS to date, and to remain seized with such and related efforts in the future.
AMENDMENTS TO THE GENERAL STANDARDS CHAPTER III: PERSONNEL, SUBCHAPTER B: STATUS AND OBLIGATIONS OF ALL STAFF MEMBERS AND LIMITATIONS ON THEIR ACTIVITIES

Article 29. Autonomy in the Performance of Duties

a. In the performance of their duties, staff members shall not seek or receive instructions from any government or from any authority outside the Organization.

b. The staff members of the permanent missions accredited to the OAS may not provide services as staff members, consultants, or independent contractors in the General Secretariat for six months from the conclusion of their respective appointments to those missions. The Permanent Council may grant exceptions, on a case-by-case basis, for trust personnel. Associate personnel defined in Article 17 of the General Standards are excepted.

7. Saint Vincent and the Grenadines is unable to join consensus on the approval of this section of the resolution. As a responsible Member State of the OAS, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines has …

2. … establish by this Charter the international organization that they have developed to achieve an order of peace and justice, to promote their solidarity, to strengthen their collaboration, and to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity, and their independence.

The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by this Charter, none of whose provisions authorizes it to intervene in matters that are within the internal jurisdiction of the Member States.”

It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. … during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019 in relation to Resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) rev. 2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize All resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

This reservation is based on our firm rejection of the selective interpretation of the procedural rules and other legal instruments of the Organization of American States.

4. … Representative to the OAS and does not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at this forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the OAS. The Government of Barbados therefore reserves its rights, until further notice, not to be bound by any decisions or resolutions adopted at this General Assembly in which the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela participated.

5. … on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any other body of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognise any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

6. … Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary-General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.
Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly. Antigua and Barbuda therefore reserves its rights, until further notice, not to be bound by any decisions or resolutions adopted at the 49th Regular Session of General Assembly that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.

Antigua and Barbuda supports the institutional strengthening of the Organization but rejects piecemeal approaches to this important matter which it considers to be more harmful than beneficial. Antigua and Barbuda objects to the mandate given to the General Secretariat to select an external organization such as the Multilateral Organization Performance Assessment Network to conduct an audit to strengthen oversight of the Organization. Antigua and Barbuda maintains that the selection of any external organization to conduct an audit must be in the remit and authority of the Permanent Council and not the General Secretariat and that no specific organization should be promoted.

7. … consistently supported and will continue to support the strengthening of ethics, oversight and transparency in the organization. However, the mandate arising from the adoption of this section of the resolution is a cause for concern. In spite of its purported noble intention to address conflicts of interest, the language adopted will result in micromanaging, it diminishes the autonomy of the Office of the Secretary General by limiting the ability for him to select persons to his cabinet, it hampers equitable geographical representation and does not adequately address structural human resource matters at the OAS. This mandate is premature in its timing and does not take into consideration current processes of reform such as the ongoing work of the organization in completing a comprehensive human resource plan.
THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

REITERATING that respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms; access to and the exercise of power in accordance with the rule of law; the holding of periodic, free, and fair elections based on secret balloting and universal suffrage as an expression of the sovereignty of the people; the pluralistic system of political parties and organizations; and the separation and independence of powers are essential elements of democracy, according to article 3 of the Inter-American Democratic Charter;

TAKING NOTE of the negotiation process and of the agreements reached between the Government of Nicaragua and the Civic Alliance for Justice and Democracy;

RECOGNIZING that it is necessary to ensure the adequate political and social conditions to promote a comprehensive electoral reform that ensures free, fair, transparent, and legitimate elections, in accordance with international standards;

RECOGNIZING ALSO that a significant number of political prisoners have been released in the context of the social and political crisis that began in April 2018, as an important step in the framework of the agreements reached in the context of the Negotiating Table, but regretting that, once the deadline is over, there is credible information about political prisoners still in custody and that many of those released are not clear about their legal status;

DEPLORING that, to this day, the Government of Nicaragua has not allowed the return of the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights and its mechanisms in Nicaragua, including the Special Mechanism for Follow-up on Nicaragua (MESENI), nor does it allow the independent work of organizations and human rights defenders;

CONDEMNING the limitations on press freedom, repression of peaceful demonstrations, and attacks on those who participate in religious events; and

CONSIDERING the process and steps established in Articles 18, 19, and 20 of the Inter-American Democratic Charter and the collective assessment underway on the situation in Nicaragua,

RESOLVES:

1. To reiterate the concern of the inter-American community over the deterioration of democratic institutions and human rights in Nicaragua and its support for a peaceful solution to the political crisis that has been affecting this country for more than a year.

2. To urge the resumption of effective negotiation and good faith between the Government of Nicaragua and the Civic Alliance for Justice and Democracy and full compliance with the agreements reached.

3. To insist on the need for the Government of Nicaragua to allow the entry of the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights and its mechanisms, as well as other international human rights mechanisms.

4. To reiterate that the serious violations of human rights and freedom of expression and of the press in Nicaragua as of April 2018, and the lack of progress in electoral reforms to guarantee free, fair, transparent, and legitimate elections are leading to an alteration of the constitutional regime that seriously impairs the democratic order, under the terms of Article 20 of the Inter-American Democratic Charter and must be further analyzed.

5. To instruct the Permanent Council to appoint a commission so that, within the framework of Article 20 of the Inter-American Democratic Charter, it may carry out diplomatic efforts at the highest level to seek a peaceful and effective solution to the political and social crisis in Nicaragua and to submit a report within a maximum of 75 days.

6. To instruct the Permanent Council to, upon receipt of the report of the commission, adopt the necessary measures, including, if necessary, the convocation of a special session of the General Assembly.

2. ... by this Charter the international organization that they have developed to achieve an order of peace and justice, to promote their solidarity, to strengthen their collaboration, and to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity, and their independence.

   It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

   The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. ... Nicaragua’s internal affairs is nothing more than the modern reiteration of what the Nicaraguan people have had to deal with throughout our history.

   Irrefutable evidence of that interference against the people of Nicaragua can be seen in the judgment issued by the International Court of Justice in The Hague on July 27, 1986, exactly 33 years ago, that found the United States Government guilty of numerous violations of customary international law and humanitarian law with respect to Nicaragua, and also ordered reparations for the harm and suffering inflicted on the Nicaraguan people: reparations that, to date, have not been honored.

   This new form of external interference seeks to use the multilateral forum of the OAS to promote internal destabilization, threatening dictates and sanctions with the sole purpose of providing political sustenance to domestic sectors with ties to the attempt to break down the constitutional order by directly overthrowing the legitimate government of Nicaragua.

   We urge the OAS member states to stop, once and for all, the interference and provocations that fuel instability and respond to the interests of a small group of countries that lack the moral authority to seek to tutor Nicaragua’s democracy and development.

   The Government of Nicaragua remains steadfast in its commitment to continue working for national unity, reconciliation, and peace, defending the Constitution and creating the conditions necessary to further the democratic, economic, social, and cultural achievements we have already conquered.

4. ... during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019 in relation to Resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) rev. 2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize All resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

5. ... internal affairs of states and the peaceful settlement of disputes as provided for in the OAS and UN Charters. Grenada appeals for respect for the ongoing reform processes in Nicaragua, which involves all of the affected parties with the observation and mediation by external and recognized stakeholders. Grenada believes that these internal processes, in accordance with the constitution, domestic laws, institutions and sovereign will of the Government and the people of Nicaragua should be granted full respect and accorded sufficient time to take effect. Grenada believes this mandate is premature in its timing and reminds that the facilitative role of the OAS must be premised on recognition of the above in order for peace, stability and the overall well-being of all Nicaraguans to be assured.

6. ... the non-intervention in the internal affairs of states and the peaceful settlement of disputes as provided for in the OAS and UN Charters. Saint Vincent and the Grenadines appeals for respect for the reform and other ongoing processes in Nicaragua. These processes involve all of the affected parties with the observation and mediation by external and recognized stakeholders who include a representative of the OAS. Hence, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines believes that these internal processes, in accordance with the constitution, domestic laws, institutions and sovereign will of the Government and the people of Nicaragua should be granted full respect and accorded sufficient time to take effect. Saint Vincent and the Grenadines reminds that the facilitative role of the OAS must be premised on recognition of the above in order for peace, stability and the overall well-being of all Nicaraguans to be assured.

Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.

Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

Therefore Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that until further notice, it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any Council or organ of the Organization that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.
THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

CONSIDERING that the Charter of the Organization of American States recognizes that representative democracy is indispensable for the stability, peace, and development of the region;

REAFFIRMING the right to democracy of the peoples of the Americas, and the obligation of their governments to promote and defend it, as set forth in Article 1 of the Inter-American Democratic Charter; and organizations; and the separation of powers and independence of the branches of government, consistent with Article 3 of the Inter-American Democratic Charter;

RECALLING that through resolution AG/RES. 2929 (XLVIII-O/18) of June 5, 2018, the General Assembly declared that the electoral process held in Venezuela on May 20, 2018, lacks legitimacy due to the absence of participation of all political actors in Venezuela, for not complying with international standards and for having taken place without the necessary guarantees for a free, fair, transparent, and democratic process;

RECOGNIZING the provisions of resolution CP/RES. 1117 (2200/19) issued by the Permanent Council on January 10, 2019, which rejected the legitimacy of the term of the Nicolás Maduro regime as of January 10, 2019 and underscored the constitutional authority of the democratically-elected National Assembly of Venezuela;

TAKING INTO ACCOUNT that resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) adopted by the Permanent Council on April 9, 2019, resolved to accept the appointment of the Permanent Representative of Venezuela, designated by the National Assembly, until new elections are held and result in the appointment of a democratically-elected government;

CONSIDERING that the situation in Venezuela constitutes a humanitarian emergency as established in CP/RES. 1123 (2215/19) of March 27, 2019, and that the migrant and refugee crisis constitutes one of the largest exoduses in the recent history of Latin America and that its treatment requires solidarity and cooperation both regionally and internationally;

RECOGNIZING the severe economic, political, and humanitarian crisis in Venezuela as the primary driver for the massive migration of Venezuelans into the region;

EXPRESSING its deepest concern at the serious abuses of the human rights of Venezuelans by the regime of Nicolás Maduro; and

BEARING IN MIND that under Article 54 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, the General Assembly is its supreme organ,

RESOLVES:

1. To accept the Permanent Representative to the Organization of American States, designated by the National Assembly of Venezuela, until new presidential elections are held and result in the appointment of a democratically-elected government.

2. To support the peaceful restoration of democracy in Venezuela, led by the people of Venezuela, guided by Venezuela’s constitution, and urge the convening of free, fair, transparent, and legitimate presidential elections as soon as possible.

3. To recognize the generosity, solidarity, efforts, and policies implemented by the host states towards Venezuelans who have fled their country of origin because of the political, social, economic, and humanitarian crisis.

4. To take note of the Quito Process as a mechanism for dialogue, coordination, and identification of solutions to the Venezuelan migration crisis and its consequences in the region.

5. To encourage states, international organizations, and non-governmental organizations to provide technical cooperation and financial resources in order to assist Venezuelan migrants in the host states.
6. To call for full and unhindered access to allow for the provision of humanitarian assistance to the most vulnerable and crisis-affected populations in Venezuela, in line with humanitarian principles.
1. ... (Item 4. Report of the Secretary General on Credentials) and in the Footnote to the

2. ... establish by this Charter the international organization that they have developed to achieve an order of peace and justice, to promote their solidarity, to strengthen their collaboration, and to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity, and their independence.

The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by this Charter, none of whose provisions authorizes it to intervene in matters that are within the internal jurisdiction of the Member States.”

It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. ... adherence to the principles of non-interference and non-intervention in the internal affairs of states, and the rule of law, and its respect for the sovereignty of member states of the international community, human rights, and democracy.

Further, the Government of Trinidad and Tobago reiterates its position conveyed to the General Secretariat by way of Note Verbale PM 25/2019 dated April 23, 2019, (from the Permanent Mission of Antigua and Barbuda on behalf of several Member States including Trinidad and Tobago), that the basis upon which CP/
RES. 1124 (2217/19), entitled “The Situation in Venezuela” was adopted is inconsistent with international law and the normative framework of the Organization of American States (OAS), and, therefore, calls into question, the legitimacy of the appointment of Mr. Gustavo Tarre Briceño as the designated Permanent Representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela to the OAS.

The Government of Trinidad and Tobago therefore is of the view that the provisions adopted within this Resolution, which are based upon, inter alia, the above mentioned Resolution [CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19)], serves to further undermine the institutional integrity of the Organization, and further, contradicts the above mentioned principles.

In this regard, the Government of Trinidad and Tobago reserves the right not to be bound by this Resolution, and, by any decision taken at the OAS which is based on, principally includes, or in any other manner involves the participation of the representative of the Venezuelan National Assembly, purportedly seated as the Permanent Representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela by CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19).

As expressed within the CARICOM Statement on the Situation in Venezuela, following the 19th Special Heads of Government Meeting in Port of Spain on May 03, 2019, Trinidad and Tobago continues to support diplomatic efforts aimed at supporting a peaceful internal process to bring about a resolution to the situation in Venezuela.

4. ... Republic of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter cesssed to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.

Therefore, Antigua and Barbuda does not recognize the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for, or act on behalf of, the Government of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela in the 49th Regular Session of the General Assembly and in future meetings of any Council or organ of the Organization of American States.
Further, Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the 49th General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any council or organ of the Organization in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.

5. Republic of Venezuela made a sovereign decision to withdraw from the membership of the OAS. This denunciation of the OAS was to have come into effect on April 27, 2019.

In a joint letter on April 26, 2019, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, along with like-minded delegations, stated our objections regarding the Resolution on the Situation in Venezuela (CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) REV. 1), regarding the process by which a delegation claiming to be representing the National Assembly of the Government of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela was seated.

To date this delegation’s objections to and reservation on the related processes and the seating of the above delegation remain the same.

Other aspects of this new resolution are deeply troubling and its adoption by the 49th Regular Session of the OAS General Assembly is in fact a clear breach of the principles and tenets of international law. For this reason Saint Vincent and the Grenadines is not obligated to adhere to any decisions pertaining to this resolution and reserves its rights to not recognize and honour any mandates arising from its adoption.

6. … during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019 in relation to Resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) rev. 2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize All resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

This reservation is based on our firm rejection of the selective interpretation of the procedural rules and other legal instruments of the Organization of American States.

7. … sovereign decision to withdraw from the membership of the OAS. This denunciation of the OAS was to have come into effect on April 27, 2019.

Grenada is unable to join with the majority on the approval of this resolution and places on record its reservation. In 2017, the duly elected Government of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela made a sovereign decision to withdraw from the membership of the OAS. This denunciation of the OAS was to have come into effect on April 27, 2019.

In a joint letter on April 26, 2019, Grenada, along with like-minded delegations, stated our objections regarding the Resolution on the Situation in Venezuela (CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) rev. 1), regarding the process by which a delegation claiming to be representing the National Assembly of the Government of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela was seated.

To date this delegation’s objections to and reservation on the related processes and the seating of the above delegation remain the same.

Other aspects of this new resolution are deeply troubling and its adoption by the 49th Regular Session of the OAS General Assembly is in fact a clear breach of the principles and tenets of international law. For this reason, Grenada is not obligated to adhere to any decisions pertaining to this resolution and reserves its rights to not recognize and honor any mandates arising from its adoption.

8. … Moros. It is clear and evident that the legitimate government of Venezuela has no legal representation at this forty-ninth regular session of the OAS General Assembly.

Attempting to supplant that representation is a breach of the OAS Charter, Articles 1 and 19 of which establish the limits of the organization’s powers and prohibit it from intervening in matters that are of the member states’ domestic jurisdictions.
At this forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly, an attempt is being made to endorse and impose representatives that were not appointed by the legitimately constituted Government of Venezuela. This represents a breakdown in the hemispheric institutional framework—unprecedented in the history of the OAS—by seeking to legitimate governments through de facto channels, which is a violation of the principle of legality that governs the inter-American system.

The OAS General Assembly, by arrogating non-existing powers for itself, violates the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter and the principles of international law. By exceeding its authority, this action is null and void and, as a consequence, no decision adopted on this basis has any validity or binding effect, sets any precedent, or may be imposed on other states.

Nicaragua does not agree with or endorse this way of destroying and demolishing this organization. The Charter of the Organization of American States establishes no power whereby either the Permanent Council or the General Assembly may appoint the representatives of states or refuse to recognize or supplant the governments of its member states; accordingly, those actions are illegal and in violation of the OAS Charter and international law.

Every state has the right to choose, without external interference, its political, economic, and social system and to organize itself in the way best suited to it. All threats and uses of force or coercive measures of an economic or political character, as occurs in the cases of Cuba, Venezuela, and Nicaragua, is a violation of the Charter of the United Nations and of Article 20 of the OAS Charter.

9. … Representative to the OAS and does not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at this forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the OAS. The Government of Barbados therefore reserves its rights, until further notice, not to be bound by any decisions or resolutions adopted at this General Assembly in which the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela participated.

10. … on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any other body of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognize any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with the participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

11. … of American States (OAS), which included the purported participation of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, a non-member state of the Organization of American States as a sponsor or a vote by said country. St. Kitts and Nevis does not recognize the appointment of any Representative to the OAS designated by the National Assembly of Venezuela. In keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, Venezuela's withdrawal from the OAS became effective in April 2019, two years following its official notification to the Secretary General and member states of its sovereign decision to no longer be a member of the Organization. The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by its Charter, none of whose provisions authorized the OAS to intervene in matters that within the internal jurisdiction of the member states.

To reiterate our commitment to strengthen the adoption of comprehensive and evidence-based measures with regard to: prevention, control, supply and demand reduction; treatment, rehabilitation, in accordance with national legislation, initiatives and measures aimed at minimizing the adverse public health and social consequences of drug abuse; and social reintegration of people with substance use disorders, through the training of specialized personnel and considering non-stigmatizing, age and gender sensitive, approaches based on the respect of human rights, that promote healthy lifestyles, and place emphasis on the individual, community, family and social levels.

131. To continue incorporating gender and human rights perspectives in the development and implementation of programs, projects and activities related to the world drug problem such as the Gender in the Criminal Justice System Program and the Inter-American Program for Strengthening Gender Equality in Drug Law Enforcement Agencies (GENLEA), among others, which are being developed and implemented by the ES/CICAD.

132. To request the ES/CICAD to continue developing and implementing technical and capacity-building programs and activities at the national and local levels to strengthen national drug strategies in member states, including their plans of action and corresponding monitoring and evaluation systems, in particular with the member states that do not yet have national plans or that are in the initial stages of design and implementation.

133. To continue encouraging member states to take into account, in accordance with national legislation and international commitments, the principle of proportionate sentencing including for minor drug-related offenses, and to encourage ES/CICAD to continue promoting initiatives and the exchange of good practices, lessons learned, cooperation and technical assistance on alternatives to incarceration, as appropriate, such as drug treatment courts.

134. To reaffirm the importance of scientific information and evidence as the basis for the development and implementation of drug policies, and to encourage OAS member states to carry out periodic studies on all aspects of the drug problem in the region.

135. To request the ES/CICAD, through the Inter-American Observatory on Drugs (OID), to continue supporting member states in the design, development, and strengthening of their national and inter-institutional drug information networks and national early warning systems on new psychoactive substances, synthetics and other emerging drugs, in coordination with existing early warning systems at the regional and global levels; as well as the strengthening or establishing, as appropriate, National Observatories on Drugs (or similar offices) to develop national drug information systems, through a multidimensional approach and which promotes scientific investigation on this issue.

136. To request the ES/CICAD, through the OID, to update the document “Building a national drugs observatory: a joint handbook”, through international cooperation funds, and to report on the progress of this updating process at each Regular Session of CICAD. The Manual should include recommendations to consolidate the information generated on issues of citizen security and drugs, in order for said information to be systematized with a comprehensive view on the national situation, and to allow decision-making authorities to design and to establish public policies based on scientific evidence as well as on complete, valid, and up-to-date information.

137. To promote cooperation between the National Drug Commissions, Ministries of Health, educational institutions, civil society, other social actors, and other competent institutions in member states, according to their national legislations, taking into account relevant approaches which promote non-stigmatizing attitudes to reduce drug demand from a multidisciplinary perspective, emphasizing research and training in coordination with ES/CICAD.

138. To reiterate the commitment to participate and strengthen the Multilateral Evaluation Mechanism (MEM) as a unique tool to measure the member states’ implementation of the CICAD Hemispheric Plan of Action on Drugs, 2016-2020, with a human rights, gender and social inclusion perspective.

139. To note the approval of the national evaluation reports of the MEM’s seventh round (2014-2018) at the sixty-fifth regular session of the CICAD, and encourage member states to disseminate their national MEM report, continue to participate actively in this process, and invite them to make voluntary contributions to it.

140. To cooperate in the design, implementation, strengthening and continuous improvement of monitoring and evaluation processes for drug-related programs and policies, encompassing, inter alia, prevention and treatment programs and alternative, comprehensive and sustainable development programs, including, as appropriate, preventive alternative development, promoting the participation of local communities and relevant organizations in these processes.

141. To encourage member states, as appropriate, to support the strengthening of viable and sustainable alternative development programs which promote social integration, with a view to preventing and countering the actions of criminal organizations that involve vulnerable populations in activities related to the production and trafficking of illicit drugs.

142. To encourage member states, as appropriate, to respond to the alarming proliferation of illicit synthetic substances appearing in some states, including by sharing information, the strengthening of early warning systems (EWS) on new psychoactive substances and updating national action plans to counter the illicit manufacture or diversion of these substances and their distribution, recognizing that many of these new and evolving threats originate outside our Hemisphere. In addition, to encourage member states to provide training to first responders and treatment personnel on ways to rapidly identify and treat exposure to illicit synthetic drugs, including the use of drugs, such as naloxone, that can temporarily reverse an opioid overdose, in order to mitigate their consequences, including reducing drug-related mortality.

143. To continue encouraging member states to support the work of the CICAD Expert Groups and to increase participation of national experts at the annual meetings.

144. To approve the Work Plan of the ES/CICAD for 2019, in accordance with the CICAD Statutes and in compliance with the 2010 Hemispheric Drug Strategy and its Hemispheric Plan of Action on Drugs 2016-2020.

145. To support the strengthening of the Executive Secretariat of CICAD, and to encourage member states, permanent observers, and other international donors to continue making voluntary financial contributions to fulfill its goals.

II. FOLLOW-UP AND REPORTING
146. To instruct the SMS to submit in timely fashion the work plan of activities that it will carry out in the 2019-2020 period, for consultations or proper oversight by member states.

147. To request the Permanent Council to report to the General Assembly at its fiftieth regular session on the implementation of this resolution. Execution of the activities envisaged in this resolution will be subject to the availability of financial resources in the program-budget of the Organization and other resources.

148. To thank member states, permanent observers, and cooperating partners for their important participation and financial contributions, which support the design, implementation, and evaluation of the programs and projects in the area of hemispheric security.

149. To underscore the importance of the work done by civil society in sensitizing public opinion to the many threats and challenges to hemispheric security and their consequences, thus contributing to the ongoing objectives of maintaining peace and the security of their citizens.

\[2.\] Provisional list of meetings.

2. … establish by this Charter the international organization that they have developed to achieve an order of peace and justice, to promote their solidarity, to strengthen their collaboration, and to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity, and their independence.

   The Organization of American States has no powers other than those expressly conferred upon it by this Charter, none of whose provisions authorizes it to intervene in matters that are within the internal jurisdiction of the Member States.”

   It also clearly places on record that, in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States, its denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two years after the receipt thereof, at which time it shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing state, which shall be left without rights and duties and unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization.

   The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to recognize resolutions and declarations adopted with the participation of non-member states.

3. ... its Statement during the Regular Meeting of the Permanent Council of April 23, 2019, in relation to Resolution CP/RES. 1124 (2217/19) rev. 2 of April 9, 2019, the delegation of the Republic of Suriname wishes to put on record that until further notice, Suriname reserves its rights to recognize all resolutions and declarations that will be adopted on the occasion of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States.

   This reservation is based on our firm rejection of the selective interpretation of the procedural rules and other legal instruments of the Organization of American States.

4. ... designated Permanent Representative to the OAS and does not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at this forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly of the OAS. The Government of Barbados therefore reserves its rights, until further notice, not to be bound by any decisions or resolutions adopted at this General Assembly in which the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela participated.

5. ... of Venezuela on any resolutions, declarations, elections considered by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

   The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica also places on record its view that in keeping with Article 143 of the Charter of the OAS which provides, inter alia, that the denunciation by a member state shall come into effect two (2) years from the date on which the General Secretariat receives a notice of denunciation, the present Charter shall cease to be in force with respect to the denouncing State, which shall cease to belong to the Organization; that the denouncing State shall be without rights and duties and shall be unattached from all actions and decisions of the Organization; that Venezuela is no longer a member state of the OAS and therefore not entitled to have a seat at the OAS. The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica therefore does not recognize any person who occupies the seat of Venezuela who is not a person duly appointed by the Government of the State of Venezuela.

   The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

   The Government of The Commonwealth of Dominica reserves its full rights in respect of the recognition resolutions and declarations adopted by the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly and any resolution and declaration approved thereafter with participation by the purported representatives of Venezuela.

6. … of Venezuela properly notified the Secretary General of its denunciation of the Charter in accordance with Article 143 of the Charter of the Organization of American States and the Charter ceased to be in force with respect to the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela which ceased to belong to the organization on 27 April 2019.
Antigua and Barbuda did not support resolution CP/RES 1124 (2217/19) of April 9, 2019 which sought to appoint Mr. Gustavo Tarre as the National Assembly’s Representative to the OAS and did not accept the credentials of the officials intending to represent the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela at the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly.

Therefore Antigua and Barbuda notifies all member states and the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States that until further notice, it will not consider itself bound by any declaration or resolution of the forty-ninth regular session of the General Assembly or any future declarations or resolutions of any Council or organ of the Organization that includes the participation of any person or entity purporting to speak for or act on behalf of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and in which 18 votes are attained with the participation of a purported representative of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela.

8. … them, and faithfully implements both. The United States also supports and implements faithfully UNSC Resolution 1540. The United States does not support and will not sign the “Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons” and does not consider it to be an “effective measure” for disarmament as set forth in Article VI of the NPT. No state possessing nuclear weapons or which depends upon such weapons for its security supports this treaty. This treaty will not make the world more peaceful, will not result in the elimination of a single nuclear weapon, and will not enhance any state’s security. It ignores the current security challenges that make nuclear deterrence necessary, and risks undermining existing efforts to address global proliferation and security challenges. The United States invites all states to engage in a dialogue on the geopolitical impediments to nuclear disarmament, with the goal of developing effective measures which will help to create the environment conducive for further progress. In that context, we look forward to the launch of the initiative “Creating the Environment for Nuclear Disarmament (CEND).”

9. … the NPT and continues to support the Treaty as the cornerstone of the global nuclear non-proliferation and disarmament regime, including by calling for further concrete progress to be made towards nuclear disarmament. Canada remains concerned that the TPNW could erode the primacy of the NPT and its review process, and undermine efforts toward the NPT’s universalization. Canada is also a State Party to the BWC and to the CWC, and implements and fully supports UNSC Resolution 1540.

10. … the largest contributor of humanitarian demining assistance in the world and the Hemisphere. We have contributed over $3.4 billion for conventional weapons destruction (which includes humanitarian demining) since 1993. The United States will continue to support OAS efforts to eliminate the humanitarian threat of all remaining landmines and declare countries “mine-impact-free.”

11. … the above-mentioned instrument. In its opinion, regulation of cluster munitions should be sought through the specific protocol to the Convention on Certain Conventional Weapons (CCW).”

12. … because the objectives that were set forth for this meeting overstep its character and nature as a political forum aimed exclusively at promoting the exchange of ideas, best practices, and experiences in defense and security issues. The CMDA has not been established to coordinate Specialized Hemispheric Military Conferences nor to develop operational mechanisms.

13. … It also agrees that these measures must be adapted to geographical, political, economic, social, cultural, and technological conditions and realities. On the basis of this approach, it generally supports a confidence-building measure aimed at sharing information on the approval and/or adjustment of standards in laws regulating data and information collection and exchanging experiences between governments in connection with the prevention, management, and protection of computer data. As part of this confidence-building measure, the participation of service providers and end users must be voluntary and must not be mandatory for the states.
15. …countries; moreover, there are already support lines and programs in the framework of the MISPA meetings, with police components. The role of the SMS is to follow up on the outcomes of these meetings.

16. …signed various international instruments to combat and prevent illegal arms trafficking and has incorporated the Program of Action and the International Tracing Instrument for firearms into its domestic law by means of the Special Law for the Control and Regulation of Firearms, Ammunition, Explosives, and Other Related Materials (Law 510), which has enabled us to develop a robust plan for controlling and registering firearms held by civilians and for seizing weapons of war.

Nicaragua is aware of the humanitarian impact and repercussions of this scourge in the Hemisphere and, in particular, in the Central American region, for which reason we remain committed to multilateralism in order to tackle this challenge.

17. …to Prevent, Combat, and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects (UNPoA), the Arms Trade Treaty (ATT), the UN Register of Conventional Arms, the International Tracing Instrument (ITI), CIFTA, and sub-regional mechanisms such as the Regional Integrated Ballistic Information Network (RIBIN) of the Caribbean Community (CARICOM).

18. …overreaches the functions of the IADB by granting it duties and competencies that do not pertain to the nature and specialization of this body. The responses to security challenges arising from climate change are defined in the jurisdiction of each member state of the Organization of American States.

19. … of climate change” is not supported by any multilaterally adopted language in the framework of the United Nations on the subject, which refers merely to the “potential adverse security effects of climate change,” according to operative paragraph 26 of Security Council resolution 2349 (2018). Neither do supposed “security challenges posed by climate change to the armed forces” find any support in multilateral documents. Furthermore, the section’s language refers specifically to the supposed security “risks” of states and fails to consider that the causes of conflicts are myriad and structurally complex. It catalogues climate change effects that escape the dimension of inter-state security and require specific and individual responses at the national level under a broad sustainable development approach.

In the opinion of Brazil, the Committee on Hemispheric Security is not the appropriate forum to address the issue of climate change. The appropriate instance for dealing with that agenda is the negotiating context associated with the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change. The country defends the premise that potential adverse effects of climate change do not necessarily constitute a threat to hemispheric peace and security. Therefore, such a relationship should be seen as entirely nuanced and dependent on the level of socioeconomic development reached by the region’s countries, which substantially affects the capacity of those societies to respond and adapt adequately to climate change’s possible adverse effects. It is not clear, therefore, how the security language of the section could contribute to adequately tackling the possible adverse impacts of climate change on the security of the region’s countries, taking into account the demands of the sustainable development paradigm and the multilateral provisions on climate change agreed on at the international level.

22. …realities of our countries. Nicaragua does not agree that the Inter-American Defense Board should intervene in military affairs or in affairs of any other kind that might undermine the country’s sovereignty, independence, institutional structure, and legal system.

THE ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES

The Organization of American States (OAS) is the world's oldest regional organization, dating back to the First International Conference of American States, held in Washington, D.C., from October 1889 to April 1890. At that meeting the establishment of the International Union of American Republics was approved. The Charter of the OAS was signed in Bogotá in 1948 and entered into force in December 1951. The Charter was subsequently amended by the Protocol of Buenos Aires, signed in 1967, which entered into force in February 1970; by the Protocol of Cartagena de Indias, signed in 1985, which entered into force in November 1988; by the Protocol of Managua, signed in 1993, which entered into force on January 29, 1996; and by the Protocol of Washington, signed in 1992, which entered into force on September 25, 1997. The OAS currently has 35 member states. In addition, the Organization has granted permanent observer status to 72 states, as well as to the European Union.

The essential purposes of the OAS are: to strengthen peace and security in the Hemisphere; to promote and consolidate representative democracy, with due respect for the principle of nonintervention; to prevent possible causes of difficulties and to ensure peaceful settlement of disputes that may arise among the member states; to provide for common action on the part of those states in the event of aggression; to seek the solution of political, juridical, and economic problems that may arise among them; to promote, by cooperative action, their economic, social, and cultural development; and to achieve an effective limitation of conventional weapons that will make it possible to devote the largest amount of resources to the economic and social development of the member states.

The Organization of American States accomplishes its purposes by means of: the General Assembly; the Meeting of Consultation of Ministers of Foreign Affairs; the Councils (the Permanent Council and the Inter-American Council for Integral Development); the Inter-American Juridical Committee; the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights; the General Secretariat; the specialized conferences; the specialized organizations; and other entities established by the General Assembly.

The General Assembly holds a regular session once a year. Under special circumstances it meets in special session. The Meeting of Consultation is convened to consider urgent matters of common interest and to serve as Organ of Consultation under the Inter-American Treaty of Reciprocal Assistance (Rio Treaty), the main instrument for joint action in the event of aggression. The Permanent Council takes cognizance of such matters as are entrusted to it by the General Assembly or the Meeting of Consultation and implements the decisions of both organs when their implementation has not been assigned to any other body; it monitors the maintenance of friendly relations among the member states and the observance of the standards governing General Secretariat operations; and it also acts provisionally as Organ of Consultation under the Rio Treaty. The General Secretariat is the central and permanent organ of the OAS. The headquarters of both the Permanent Council and the General Secretariat are in Washington, D.C.
